

acoustic desk screen

Fokus - Bauhaus

Fokus is a series of desk screens that are available in three distinct families, one of which is Bauhaus. The famous school of design and architecture, is also the inspiration behind the geometric pattern featured in this family of desk screens. With its clean lines and timeless aesthetic, this screen fits perfectly in almost any office interior. The pattern is engraved both on the outer faces and the side interior face is accompanied by a solid color. You can also easily pin notes on this screen thanks to the porous textile-like material. Choose from our selected color combinations or request a custom color or palette to match your needs. The desk screen can be specified with left or right side wall.

Material / PET Felt

With its textile like appearance, PET felt is a great choice for use in interior design and decorative applications. Despite its soft look, PET felt has good impact-resistance, making it a durable option for long-term use, even in demanding spaces. The open structure of felt is one of its key features, as it contributes to its outstanding acoustic properties. This means that the material can effectively absorb sound, making it an ideal choice for our products.

Designer's color palettes

Custom colors

We offer a range of customized products and services to help you achieve your desired outcome. Our standard products can be personalized to match any specific color or palette. Please note that our printed colors may differ slightly from your reference due to our raw material's natural appearance (see picture for reference), but we always do our best to match your specific color as closely as possible. To ensure this, we encourage you to send us a standard color code (NCS or PANTONE) or a reference swatch.

To customize the color of your Fokus acoustic desk screen, we require two color codes - one for the outer faces and a second one for inside side wall. To maintain its original appearance, we suggest that you choose colors that harmonize or complement each other. However, if you have only one color reference, you can contact us, and we will help you find the perfect combination.
